

THE WEB OF THE GOLDEN SPIDER

Frederick O. Bartlett

The Web of the Golden Spider

by Frederick O. Bartlett (1876-1945)

The Web of the Golden Spider is a tale of mystery, intrigue and adventure that begins in the city, progresses to a mutinous open sea voyage, eventually leading to the remotest areas on the slopes of the Andes of South America. Wilson, our hero, finds himself in the midst of a battle between a deposed queen and revolutionists who have banded together in an effort to bring their country together as a republic. Wilson -- although torn between helping mercenaries, freedom fighters and revolutionaries -- is more concerned with the rescuing of the girl he has fallen in love with, but who has been snatched from him by a mysterious priest. That, and the finding of the famed treasure of El Dorado rumored to have been buried beneath Lake Guadiva.

Total running time: 10:34:58

Read by Roger Melin

Cover design by Kathryn Delaney
Illustration by Harrison Fisher from the frontispiece of the first edition

Frederick O. Bartlett

THE WEB OF THE GOLDEN SPIDER